This tiny application will allow you to change the settings of the Windows scheduler. You can choose your time to turn the system on or off, the time to log on or off, the time to log off, the time to shutdown, the time to hibernate, the time to sleep, the time to enable Wi-Fi connection, the time to enable Bluetooth connection, the time to enable Bluetooth device pairing, the time to enable the Wake On LAN option, and also the time to automatically power on the screen when the computer goes into standby mode. To be able to get the best possible performance, you will have to provide the settings to the application. To begin, choose the "Change Settings" option. You will now be greeted with a new window that will allow you to determine which type of setting you want to change. From this window, you will have the ability to change the Settings that are available. Each type of setting consists of "On" and "Off" buttons. It is up to you to decide which of the two you want to use for each setting. If you want to be able to view the end result of your changes, click on the "Show results" button. However, you can also show yourself walking, cooking, or playing some computer games. The program will make sure to show the various forms of your face in a way that will instantly make you look cool, if you're not already in that frame of mind. The settings can be saved on the computer. It is also possible to download more images on to the device. What can not be done is that users will be able to chat using Voice chat, share photos, and video chat with those outside your immediate vicinity. The good news is that you can set the (Skype-like) software to open when you launch the computer. Finding a computer may sometimes be a rather challenging task, and using the correct tools can give you the needed help. That is the idea of this "Computer Utilities Software."
