What's New in the Split Join?

The application allows you to split sequences into pieces that match certain user-defined criteria. By default, the software looks for lines containing whitespace or a tab, but you can change the search parameters to look for any other line of text. When you have the desired number of sequences stored in sequence files, you can append the split files to create a single sequence file, or join them together to create a new sequence file. Please note that while this application is intuitive and easy to use, it does not offer the most powerful features. That is why we added a powerful and robust version of this application for our customers that want more. You can get access to that version by subscribing to our Custom Development Service.
