Q: SQL Server In Memory Table Manager, How To Get TOC and Column Size We are using SQL Server 2012 Enterprise. I tried to use SQL Server In Memory Table Manager to inspect the table's schema, but the number of rows and the number of columns are wrong. They are always low, and the number of rows is always very low. The maximum size is about 15K records. It was very difficult to inspect the TOC of the table. After lots of searches, I found that we could check the TOC and Column Size using the following SQL, but it didn't work.

SELECT s.name AS schema_name , c.name AS name ,
p.rows , (CAST(p.rows * 8 as bigint) /
8) AS data_size_KB , (CAST(p.rows
* 8 as bigint) * 8) / 1024 AS

data_size_MB , C
