God Of The Arena Dungeon Free [Updated] 2022

The year is 2100. Humanity is at war with giant robots. In order to turn the tide of the war, the Earth Federation Marine Corps has created an Anti-Marine Corps Alliance (AMCA) project of weapons development and deployment. AMCA is a 10 year project and still ongoing, but tens of thousands of prototypes have been built, and hundreds of prototype weapons have already been deployed. The most powerful is the self-directed particle cannon, which spreads a charged particle beam in front of it to instantly slow and stop any target. AMCA is planning to put a great weapon called the PMF-1 in action during the next 10 years. PMF-1 is a particle cannon attached to a massive 360 degree rotating platform. It has no protection against energy attacks, and is not meant for long range battles. But the power of the PMF-1 is unrivaled, and it can deal massive damage to a hostile target while making little damage to the defending force. Who stands in its way? The Alliance has had several massive failures on the battlefield and has lost many of its best weapons. The Alliance has its old weapons in the form of the Kagerou, which has the largest charged particle cannon deployed. One of its few remaining weapons, the Hard Neutron Cannon, could be a powerful unit in the modern battlefield. Compared with the conventional weapons of the Alliances, the Kagerou is a highly mobile, low-armor metal shot. The Hard Neutron Cannon is a particle cannon equipped with a neutron generator, and fires massive neutrons to disable or even destroy soft targets. It is a very powerful weapon, but is seriously short on manpower for its deployment. The Hard Neutron Cannon is currently the only one of the AMCA weapons deployed at the Front. The Alliance plans to deploy the Particle Cannon a bit later. Compared with the other weapons, the Particle Cannon is a heavy mobile weapon. The Particle Cannon is equipped with a huge particle beam generator and a huge energy capacitor. It can be expanded to a mobile 360 degree rotating turret, and holds its own in any environment. The advantage of mobility may be lost, however, if it exposes itself to the enemy, as it will be a great target for the enemy. The engineers behind the development of the Particle Cannon know how to stabilize the energy capacitor, but there is still much to be done. To create the Particle Cannon, the engineers first needed to prove its principle, c9d1549cd
