Below is the webpage where you can see the button above and instructions. . As they had no idea of each other, they were both painfully shy and awkward around each other. Of course, there was nothing stopping them from being best friends, but they were just too awkward to. So they just remained best friends, even after their first years of college. Some months later, Janet's father had left their home, took his things, and moved in with Janet. His new girlfriend lived several states away and he was the sole provider of everything that Janet and her mom needed. They could only afford a very small apartment in a rough part of town. It was not the place for kids, so they had to keep it quiet. Janet also had to go to a special elementary school, which was near their apartment. Unfortunately, some of the other kids talked and teased Janet. At first, Janet tried to ignore them, and even to be best friends with them. After some time, she realized she was completely miserable and began to hate them. Eventually, she was no longer able to ignore them and was forced to work hard to become part of the team. Janet tried, but she was never a very good sport. Although many of the kids respected Janet and played with her, there were a few other kids who just wanted to be with her for her cute looks. They soon made sure that Janet was the object of their ridicule, and it was too much. Janet was attacked and beaten on several occasions, and she was eventually driven to quit school. She never finished college.
