In what is a first for LEGO, the set has a lot of lifelike detail and includes a large, organic shape that comes together to reveal the set inside. This set is no secret as LEGO has released a short description for it, and it says that the set is a Dragon Knight set that has been inspired by the LEGO Master Builders' project so it comes with instructions for building it. This means that it does not require builders to have any previous experience of the parts that are in the set, which should make it more accessible to a broad audience. The set also comes with a Dragon Knight, a Hero, three Warriors and a Sorceress. The set also comes with four shields that you can use to protect the Dragon Knight as he is about to be catapulted off the island. The set is also fairly large, with a minifigure scale of 1:30 and is made up of 1,205 pieces (exclusive of the shields and extra tower parts). The set also includes a large tower that is 37.5 cm tall and has four levels. The LEGO Master Builder's name will also appear on the front. The set should retail for $
