HYDERABAD: The Telangana government on Wednesday decided to open 1,024 private art colleges across the state as it seeks to increase enrolments in the higher education sector in the face of a deep recruitment crisis in the state. The decision to open new private art colleges for students was taken after a high-level meeting of HRD ministry and state government on the issue. According to the state government, at present, there are only about 1.1 lakh seats available in the private universities in the state, about 1.5 lakh in the private arts colleges and about 1.5 lakh in the state-run institutions. State HRD minister K Chandrasekhar Rao told reporters after the meeting that 1,024 colleges will be opened and currently the state has only about 1,500 private art colleges. Rao said that the availability of seats in private universities and colleges is at a low level. “We have less than 1.3 lakh seats in 1,000 private universities, 2,000 in the public and private colleges,” he said. The state minister said that with the opening of private art colleges, the number of available seats will be increased. There will be 1,024 colleges from this year itself and soon around 4,000 colleges will open across the state. KCR said that presently, there are around 12 arts and science universities and 28 colleges, which have been providing higher education to the student population. He also said that the state government was concerned about the low level of enrolments in institutions of higher learning and that was why the decision was taken to open more private colleges. The move is expected to help increase enrolments in the higher education sector. In Video: Hyderabad unveils plan to open 1,024 private art colleges[High-dose therapy and bone marrow transplantation in the treatment of low-grade non-Hodgkin lymphomas].
