Technical Field The present invention relates to a print service and a print control method, and particularly relates to a print service and a print control method for allowing a printing apparatus to execute a printing operation based on received print data while reflecting a change in an environmental factor of the printing apparatus. 2. Related Art Heretofore, there has been proposed a system for generating, as a print file, print data generated by a computer terminal or the like, and causing a printing apparatus to perform printing based on the generated print data. There has been also proposed a technique of, when an environmental factor of a printing apparatus is changed, reflecting the changed environmental factor on print data generated by the printing apparatus (see e.g. JP-A-2001-229950). By the way, recently, a printing apparatus may become troubled in printing due to a change in an environmental factor thereof. In such a case, it may happen that a user cannot perform printing as the user wishes. Herein, the user who wants to perform a printing operation needs to perform troublesome operations such as initialization or the like, and this may delay a processing.Q: Flink streaming JobStartException : Streaming query cannot be started. Human infections with 2009 pandemic H1N1 (pH1N1) virus resulted in a heavy toll on the population worldwide. Although the efficacy of the standard antiviral therapy with oseltamivir has been reported to be very good, the efficacy of immunosuppressive therapy with cyclosporin A (CyA) for the treatment of viral pneumonia remains poorly understood. We investigated the effect of CyA on pH1N1 replication in cultured human alveolar epithelial A549 cells. In vitro cell culture experiments were performed to study the effect of CyA on replication of seasonal H1N1 and pH1N1 influenza virus strains in A549 cells. The in vitro cell culture experiments revealed that CyA effectively inhibited the replication of both strains of influenza viruses in a dose-dependent manner. These findings indicate that CyA could be a potential therapeutic option for the treatment of human H1N1 infection as well as human H5N1 infection that may lead to fatal encephalopathy.
