How to include license key in the "license key" of the INF file for the.nuke files Is there a way to include a license key in the.nuke files using McAfee software but im not allowed to distribute the exe to the market. any alternatives for licensing and key as i already have the key for the program so i wanted to do this without the.exe. keygen is A: According to this Apple document your app must have a proof of purchase, it links to a third party app store for info on the porpuse of the proof of purchase. The proof of purchase may be the keygen or the installation code. In some cases, the product key must be used in tandem with a proof of purchase. A proof of purchase that includes a product key for the same product can be used to unlock your application or add licensed features. Learn more about the provisioning process, and about the different types of proofs of purchase, including free proofs of purchase. Q: Questions about the cochain complex In the simplicial homology book by Björner and Ziegler, they explain that the wedge sum of all closed orientable surfaces  $S^2 \vee S^3 \vee \dots$  is the reduced suspension  $\Sigma X$  of  $X$ .  $\Sigma X$  is the quotient of  $X \times \mathbb{R}$  by the relation  $x \sim -x$  for  $x$  in  $X$ .  $X$  is the set of all real points in  $X$ . What is the space  $\Sigma X$ ? It seems too large, and so can't be homotopy equivalent to a CW complex. Is there a rigorous construction of  $\Sigma X$ ? A direct construction is nice, but maybe it's too difficult. A: Suspending the topological space  $X$  is a functor  $S^0, S^1, S^2 \mapsto X$ . Its image is the set of points at infinity, which comes naturally equipped with the quotient topology. If  $X$  is a CW-complex, then its image is a CW-complex. It is also compact and Hausdorff, because  $X$  was. You can prove this from the facts that it is functorial
